

Section 3: Music in New Zealand published periodicals and newspapers, 1850-1913

The following lists include music which was either issued as a supplement to the particular periodical or newspaper, or inset into the body of the text itself.

While all reasonable effort has been made to re-discover relevant items, not all issues of all the periodicals and newspapers could be examined. This list is thus certainly not complete and additional music remains to be re-discovered.

Items in italics are by New Zealand composers or have a clear New Zealand connection.
